Dear Mr. Simpson,

I am a documentary producer based in London, currently developing 4 short documentaries with the broadcaster Channel 4. The director of these films is Jess Scott-Hunter and his idea is to profile individuals who are creating new spaces/ areas/ cities in our world- for reasons of improved safety, comfort and efficiency. He wants to understand the reason for creating these areas and how you came up with the concept, and take that to a wider audience.

Each film would be a profile of the place and the person behind it, in this case yourself and the plans for Victory City, lasting about 4mins and going out just before the 8'o clock news.

If this is something you would be interested in collaborating on, please don't hesitate to contact me, (my details are above).

Yours Sincerely,

Jacob Swan Hyam
