In 2010, we submitted our design to approve the old structure. We provided demolishing as much as we could, yet added some columns and beams. This design departed on the original architectural language of the site. We visited such places, this was a good in particular as something that distinguished mosques from shrines.

Since 2010, the project has been under construction. These pictures were taken by our contents of 2016.